

City Workers Give Fund to Help Needy

85 Baskets to Be Given by Department of Public Works

Employees of the Department of Public Works, from the commissioner, George H. Ballantyne, down to the laborer on part-time, have contributed to a fund to spread cheer among the city's poor families on Thanksgiving Day.

The fund collected, it was said, will provide for approximately 85 baskets of provisions, groceries and chicken, duck or turkey.

After a conference at the conclusion of the acceptance of the donations, all of which were made voluntarily, it was decided to turn over the task of selecting the neediest families and making the delivery of the baskets to representatives of the city and civic charitable and welfare agencies.

Jobs Open Up For Students

S. U. Body Has Enough Work to Pay Way

A general opening up of employment for Syracuse University students who are working their way through college, is reported by Mrs. Gladys R. Allis, director of part-time work.

Although the outlook was unfavorable at the beginning of the fall semester, Mrs. Allis said, enough calls are now being turned in at the employment office to supply student job-seekers with sufficient money to carry on their education.

In an attempt to continue the offers of jobs made by Syracuse, the employment office is issuing tomorrow several hundred printed postcards urging residents to notify the university of part-time jobs open for students.

The postcard, similar to those used by the Chamber of Commerce, ask residents of the city to use student help for auto driving, car washing, care of children, care of furnace and sidewalks, floor waxing, gardening, oiling, window washing, window washing, waiting on table and other odd jobs.

If Your Ears Ring With Head Noises

If you have catarrhal deafness or head noises go to Powers Drug Co., F. J. Nye, Licensed & Baker, Weston's Co. or your druggist, and get 1 oz. of Paranal (double strength) and add to it one-fourth pint of hot water four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Closed nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucous stop dripping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little, and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has catarrhal deafness or head noises should give this prescription a trial.—Adv.

Bishop Curley At Dedication In Cleveland

Elaborate Service Held by St. Marys Parish-ioners There

St. Marys parishioners of Cleveland dedicated their new church building yesterday with an elaborate service conducted by the Rt. Rev. Daniel Joseph Curley, bishop of Syracuse.

Clergy from many of the parishes of the Syracuse diocese gathered for the services in the new church, which was founded more than 80 years ago.

With the advent of the new church building the old organ has been replaced with a new pipe organ and consequently Mrs. James Gallagher, for the first time in 30 years, did not play for the services in the new church.

Having had no experience with a pipe organ, Mrs. Gallagher was content to play aside and let Prof. Edward Eichler of Utica play the music for the dedicatory services.

The Rev. William J. Morris, pastor of the Cleveland church, had attempted to persuade Mrs. Gallagher to play the new organ, but she firmly refused.

"This is something special, and I could never learn to play the pipe organ for such an occasion as this," she told the pastor.

Mrs. Gallagher's life has been closely connected with history of the church. As a child she attended Sunday school there and later, in 1883, she married there. Her son was baptized and married in the same church. Her husband, James Gallagher, Cleveland attorney, has always been closely associated with the affairs of the parish and one of his poems, written as an appeal for help in building of the new building, was instrumental in the financing of the project.

Bishop Curley was assisted in the dedicatory services by the Rev. James M. Shanahan of St. John the Evangelist Church, Syracuse, who sang the mass, and the Rev. Paul H. Martineau of St. Francis de Sales Church of Utica, who acted as deacon. The Rev. John R. Murray of St. Patrick's Church, Utica, was sub-deacon. The dedicatory sermon was preached by the Rev. Thomas J. Hanson of St. Thomas Aquinas Church, Southampton.

The Rev. Henry L. Condois of St. John the Baptist Church, Bulbridge, and the Rev. Thomas F. McKell of St. Marys Church, Clinton, acted as chaplains to Bishop Curley. The Rev. David F. Cunningham, secretary to the bishop, was general master of ceremonies, and the Rev. Joseph W. McCarthy of St. Patrick's Church, Oneida, acted as general master of ceremonies of the mass.

Church Members Molded by World, Rev. Kirkwood Says

Second Reformed Pastor Declares They Ignore God's Laws

The world molds the average church member to its will today, the Rev. Thomas Kirkwood, pastor of the Second Reformed Church, said in his sermon yesterday.

"The most sacred covenant any man on earth can make is that which he makes with the church of Christ, yet every day we trample on that covenant without a twinge of conscience."

"A man takes communion, goes out into the political arena and does crooked work. The business man goes to his business and although he breaks God's laws every day."

"Love" was the sermon theme of the Rev. William E. Terrell at Calvary Baptist Church.

"There is as much love in the world as there is God, for God is love," he said. "The trouble about it is that so much of the love we know nowadays is pitched on such a low level."

Vocational Pupils In Get Together Party on Friday

Seniors and freshmen of Blodgett Vocational High School will have their annual "get together" party Friday night in Hopkins Hall at the school.

Invitations to the affair are being distributed by the following members of the committee in charge: Richard Bitter, chairman; Pauline Fredette, Clara Kelly and Francis Shandorf. Freshman invitations include the parents of the students.

The entertainment committee, comprising Kate Brenner, chairman, Helen Fehr, Benjamin Bodow and William Klingler, has arranged an interesting program for the affair.

"Too largely our formula for happiness is 'more things' and our test of the success of our civilization is the statistics of trade and manufacture and our prayer is for prosperity. In a world like that the prophet challenges us with three words: 'wherefore, spend' and 'not bread.'"

Mr. and Mrs. Grant Goodelle will attend the Royalty Club tonight at Syracuse.

News has been received here of the marriage of Miss Mary Moth, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Moth to Charles Kavanaugh of East Syracuse. The wedding took place Aug. 9 at Durhamville.

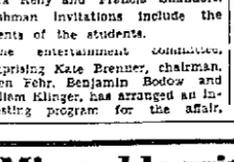

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Masters and family have returned from a motor trip to Malone.

Richard Leonard of Colgate University, who came for the Colgate-Syracuse game, passed the week-end with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Leonard.

Miss Margaret Taffner of the Oswego Normal passed the week-end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Taffner.

Including a Dressed Turkey

The day has passed when a stove is merely "a cook-stove." Modern women require that it be a thing of beauty as well as accurate to the last degree. And here is a stove that meets every qualification demanded by the most particular of housewives. It is all porcelain, finished in tints to match or harmonize with any kitchen color scheme. The oven and broiler are enamel lined, and the manifold is closed so that no dirt accumulates. A utility drawer provides convenient space for large utensils. The broiler has a porcelain tray, and the oven is both ventilated and insulated, thereby keeping sweet-smelling and holding the heat inside on warm days. When you bake you merely set the gauge at the desired heat and the oven keeps that temperature indefinitely.
