Walsh Addresses Commission---

ference, conciliation or persuasion. It may refer the complaints to the state commission. That commission has the power of injunction and subpoena.

Hancock said the commission may receive and investigate complaints and also initiate its own investigations. It has broad powers in exploring problems involving human rights. It may conduct hearings that do not necessarily have to be public, administer oaths and take testimony.

He said, further, that the commission may recommend to the administration legislation which it considers pertinent to solving problems that deal with human rights and civil rights.

'Top Talent'

Commissioner of Urban Improvement George A. McCulloch voiced a need for "top talent" in the investigation of complaints and welcomed the assistance of the commission.

He pointed out how urban renewal is the only program that gives consideration to the relocation of families being displaced. He said no other program has paid attention to this problem.

McCulloch referred to Director of Relocation William M. Chiles as being a militant fighter of long standing for better housing for Negro families.

It was agreed that complaints would be funneled to the commission through Deputy Commissioner of Urban Improvement Robert L. Hale Jr.

The commission also has power to look into situations where no complaints have been filed.

The meeting adjourned without a definite date being set for the next session. This will depend on how soon a meeting can be set up with the state commission, a spokesman said.

The week will be climaxed by an anniversary breakfast held at the Jewish Community Center Oct. 13. A. Solomon Menter, chairman of the breakfast, and Sidney Manes of the Thomas Jefferson Onondaga Lodge, will witness today's proclamation.

HARRISVILLE MAN FINED

Aaron M. Humes, 28, of Harrisville, pleaded guilty in Traffic Court yesterday to a charge of unsafely moving a stopped vehicle. He was fined $10.

PBA Plans to Appeal Dismissal of Action

The Syracuse Police Benevolent Association Inc., will definitely appeal the dismissal of its legal actions on issues of the appointment of deputy chiefs and personnel transfer. President William Smith announced yesterday.

He said that the association's legal staff felt the matter could properly be appealed.

"For more than 18 months, the PBA has been attempting to prove the practicability of testing for chief's positions by the production of expert testimony under oath. We have been repeatedly denied the opportunity to present such testimony."

Smith said that the association believes the public interest demands that an open hearing—with a full scale investigation including witnesses under oath—should be conducted.

"It is apparent that the Appeals Court is our only recourse from the dismissal," Smith stated. Appeal was approved unanimously by the PBA membership Tuesday night.

Pacifist To Discuss Civil Rights

Civil disobedience and other aspects of the civil rights movement will be discussed at the opening meeting of the Syracuse Peace Council at 8 p.m. today in Erwin Methodist Church.

The speaker will be David McReynolds, field secretary of the War Resisters League.

He will also speak at the state fall roundup of Peace Workers beginning at 9 a.m. tomorrow at Eastwood Baptist Church.

That program, expected to bring some 100 peace workers from throughout the upstate area, will begin with two films: "The Hole," winner of the 1962 Academy Award for color cartoons, and "The Magician."

William Oates, a sophomore at Central Technical High School and one of the Madison Area Project students who toured Europe this summer, will discuss his camping trip through Russia.

Garry Thomas, returning from volunteer work with the American Friends Service Committee's international service program, will discuss his African experiences.

McReynolds, 32, has been active in the pacifist movement since 1939. He is a graduate of the University of California at Los Angeles, majoring in political science.
